No. V.1.5 - Costs of performance

Each party shall bear the costs of performance of its obligations, unless the parties have agreed otherwise.

Commentary:
The Principle provides a clear-cut rule for the carrying of the costs of performance. These costs must be carried by the party who performs, unless the parties have agreed otherwise, expressly or by implication. These costs may involve the transport of the goods sold, fees to be paid for the export of goods, bank charges for money transfers etc.
